THANKSGIVING DINNER TO RECORD--PRESS FURCE

The Thanksgiving dinner given to the RECORD-PRESS force by Mr. and Mrs. T Cleveland Stone at their home on Depot street, was a most enjoyable affair, not only to every member of the "force" -from editor to devil -- but by quite a large num ber of others not connected with the newspaper office.

Everything that goes to make u a bountiful Thanksgiving dinner wa on the table, from the conventional turkey down -- or up-of which each member showed his appreciation by partaking of it abundantly-in fact, he partook, then kept on partaking until he could partake no more. Yet there was an abundance left on the table, more than twelve backetfulls, no doubt.

Mrs. Stone showed the true Thanks giving spirit and her hospitality will be remembered by every member of the "force" for many Thanksgiving days yet to come.

A MAIYEW FARMERS UNION GIRL

Friends and neighbors: We have met to-night for the purpose of talking and reasoning together. This meeting has called a class of people together, who are looked upon by the millions from the pine forest of Minnesota to the orange groves of Florida, and the metropolis of the east to the golden gate on the Pacific coast, as workers or tillers of the soil, who are unfit to make the laws of these United States of America, but only as laborers.

We are predominated by a class of people who sit in their mansions and palaces, with all the luxuries of life at their hand-the fruit of our toil, and in the event of a dissatisfaction or quarrel over the spoil; things that should belong to us, they come by a flowery tail through the columns of some journal, seeking whom they may devour, our last treasure our vote. Or should it be on our products, they do not warn us of the approaching crisis, but warn one another, and there they fix the prices on our corn, wheat, tobacted the prices on our corn, wheat, tobacted the say just here, we do not cause we do not stay by each other than the land stand for the right.

I cry as of olden times, "how long must we stand these evils?" Or how long can we stand such things to go on? These gambling dens are located all over this broad land and country of ours, and how few are the cases brought to justice by the law, and even then the court is more than apt to reverse the decision and at last, the courts say it was an unconstitutional ruling and

We have these corporations known as the trusts, or in other words, a soulless man, and so well it is a soulless man, that they take what we raise below the productive price and say, I expect the prices to go down, there is so much on the market. But my dear friends, after the crops leave the hands of the farmer, did you ever hear of lower prices. I dare say no, but on the other hand, they soar up until the hungry can hardly be fed from their meager pittance allowed for their labor.

I call you again to arms! Farmers get in line and be ready for the crisis that now is confronting us. Did you ever hear of a farmer selling a million bushels of wheat and have no crop? I say. no. Did you ever hear of a speculator selling millions of bushels of wheat and corn and the crop yet to grow? Yes. These men who sit and figure our prices and bushels, stear the money we make and rarely leave us food, to say nothing of the homes in this country that are in dire need of medicine, doctors and clothing. They are deprived of the pleasures of this life, they cannot go to school, they can't go to church nor anywhere, and in fact are not fit to stay at home. Why? Because they have been robbed of the results of their labor-Money. Mrs. Olsen lay for a time trying to sleep. Then the thought of wild beasts came to add to her worries phobia skunks which bite a sleeper only on the face. To guard against such an attack she removed her skirts and wrapped them tightly about her head. The mist from the ocean chilled her through and through and with the constant fear of the animals and the terrors of the darkness he could not close her eyes to sleep.

Finally dawn came and at the first ray of light Mrs. Olsen started again on the search for the trail that would lead her back to Avalon. Her feet were so cut by the rocks that it was only with the greatest difficulty she was able to drag herself along. Finally she heard the roar of the ocean apparently at a great distance. She reasoned that if she could follow the coast line of the island she would eventually reach her goal. But so far gone was her strength that when she reached the beach at White's Landing she collapsed.

When she recovered she laved her feet with the water, trying to take away the stinging pain of the cuts. It was then that she heard the puffing hand and of a gasoline launch, saw it going past her and desperately cried out for help and signaled to the occupant. The man in the launch saw the signal, him. saw it was a woman in distress, and went to shore. Then, with Mrs. Olsen, he returned to Avalon.

Mrs. Olsen was taken care of and later was placed aboard the steamer night, he and for the trip back to San Pedro and dead, too, and her friends.

MANIAC CONDUCTS PRAYER MEETING

RELIGIOUSLY DEMENTED YOUTH MAKES PASTOR PLAY PART OF "CONGREGATION."

LATTER RESCUED EXHAUSTED

Is Compelled to Sing Hymns and Offer Up Prayer at Demand of Crazy Man for Three Hours.

Galveston, Tex.-Compelled choose between being pounded into its energy, its strength, its vigor and jelly and being the audience of a prayer meeting conducted by a lunatic, Rev. Dr. George Francomb, pastor of the St. James Methodist church here, chose the latter. For three hours he sang all the hymns announced by the lunatic leader, and prayed loud and long whenever called on to do so.

When the minister was found by a member of his church and rescued from the madman, he was exhausted and a physician had to be summoned.

Dr. Francomb had been holding revival services at the First Methodist church, and among those who have shown a deep interest in the meetings was a young man whose name Dr. Francomb says he never learned. The man became more and more enthused, and finally became so earnest that he went to the church between meetings and held service all by himself. Recently he found Dr. Francomb in the church when he went there and he requested the minister to hold a service just for the two of them. Dr. Francomb made some excuse and went away.

Nothing was thought of the incident until, when Dr. Francomb was in the church himself arranging the music for a meeting, the young man entered, turned the key in the lock and put the key in his pocket. Advancing up the aisle he saluted the minister and then suggested that they hold a prayer meeting for their mutual good. Dr. Francomb demurred and attempted to leave the church, but found that the church was locked. When he quested the young man to open the door he was confronted by two huge fists, and he was asked if he wanted to receive a sound thrashing.

Dr. Francomb said he did not. "The only escape then is to hold this meeting,' was the rejoinder and Dr. Francomb was marched up the aisle and seated in the front pew.

For three hours Dr. Francomb was held a prisoner, and even then the insane leader would have continued had not one of the minister's parishioners, who knew he was at the church, come there to see him on a matter of business. He found the door locked, but heard Dr. Francomb singing lustily. Going to a window and climbing up the friend looked in and saw the two holding the meeting. At first he thought that the meeting was merely an incident of the revival services, but while he was looking through the window he saw the young man descend from the pulpit and engage in one of his exhibitions of pugilistic pantomime in front of the minister. Then the friend knew that he was a friend in need, and he sent for the police.

Brave Girl Throttles Meuse. Bethlehem, Pa.-A mouse caused a small panic in Bechtel's restaurant at the noon hour, when the place was filled with diners, mostly women.

A waitress discovered the little rodent running across the floor, and shrieked. In an instant every chair was occupied, feet arst.

Just then Miss Elizabeth Heatro, a pretty waitress, came in from the kitchen, and as the terrified little mouse came her way, quickly seized it back of the head with her hand and broke its neck.

Woman Whips Thieves.

Quakertown, Pa.-Discovering a man ransacking the closets in her kitchen, Mrs. George Zuck of Zion Hill trounced him with a horsewhip. After he had fled Mrs. Zuck found a second man in a bedroom, and 'she also flogged him as he ran downstairs. In trying to escape he was caught on the pickets of a fence, and while in this predicament the woman rained blow after blow upon him.

FLIRTATIOUS MONKEY

JOCKO SEES THEM CHESTNUT TING IN WOODS AND CEASES TO BE HERMIT.

New York.-Miss Stella Bruggeman and Miss May Wood of Montelair, N. J., and young Jack Ebbels, a Montclair beau, went chestnutting in the woods around the new State Normal school, Montclair Heights. Of a sudden Miss Bruggeman, who had wandered a little away from her companions, shrieked affrightedly. Jack Ebbels ran to her. A monkey with a funny bearded face and a long tail, jumped from Miss Bruggeman's shoulder, clambered up an oak tree and vanished through a hole in a big on her shoulder, threw its arms around her neck and squeezed her so Seattle's streets are available for vigorously that it scratched her cheek and neck.

Young Ebbels vengefully swore he would catch that monkey, and, with portant one. The plans provide for the girls' help, he climbed the tree and caught its lowest branches. As he ascended, the monkey reappeared in less than three years and pelted Ebbels with chestnuts, of which, it proved, it had a great stock in the hollow branch.

As Ebbels approached, the monkey ran down the tree and again sprang on Miss Bruggeman's shoulder, chattering excitedly as if it wanted to tell her what a very pretty girl she is. Miss Bruggeman fainted.

Screaming, Miss Wood ran away; the monkey, as if to show no favoritism, chased, overtook her, and, leaping on her shoulder, clasped her neck and held on tight. Miss Wood ran to the nearest house and fainted.

"Why, here's Jocko come home again," cried the woman, living in the house. The monkey sprang in her arms; the children came running and petted the monkey. The woman revived Miss Wood, and told her she had owned Jocko three years.

LOSES TROUSERS IN CUE BET.

Player Awaits Another Pair, but Wife Sends Smoking Jacket.

New York.—Something new in freak bets was introduced in Brooklyn when William W. Williams and Walter M. Oestreicher wagered their trousers on the result of a billiard match.

The bet, made in the heat of an arers, was carried out much to the distress of Mr. Oestricher, who, after losing the game and his trousers and being compelled to hide himself beneath the friendly folds of a pool table cover, learned that his wife, to whom a messenger had been dispatched for aid, had sent in lieu of another pair of trousers a daintily embroidered smoking jacket.

It was agreed by the men that they would play a 50-point game, and that before starting they would remove their trousers and hand them over to stakeholder.

Accompanied by the stakeholder Arthur Nosworthy, and several friends, Williams and Oestreicher went to the billiard academy and obtained a small private room for their game. It was cold in the room, but neither flinched.

Williams is robust and stood the strain, but Oestreicher suffered from the frigid air. Williams won by 50 to 21, and, after donning his own trousers, tucked Oestreicher's garment under his arm and marched away in tri-

Bundled up in a billiard table cover. Oestreicher awaited the return of a uniformed lad, who made a leisurely trip to the Oestreicher residence and returned with the smoking jacket. Williams finally went back to the place and returned the trophy.

Snakes in Cupboard.

Rising Sun, Mo .- Mrs. Joseph Cutler of Liberty Grove heard a commotion in the lower section of a cupboard in the kitchen, and upon opening the door among the pots and pans discovered a black snake and a flathead viper in a furious combat, the black snake appearing to be victorious.

Assisted by her daughter Helen and armed with clubs they dispatched the reptiles.

The blacksnake measured four and one-half feet, while the viper measured three. A mouse hole in the wall showed where they entered.

Women Inclined To Constipation

SOUEEZES TWO GIRLS Great Care Should Be Taken Not to Use Violent Cathartics

Women, owing to their peculiar funetions, are more or less liable to consti-pation and many of them owe their continued ill health to the pill habit. A well brown physician lays the majority of cases of foul breath, bad complexion, disordered stomach, sick headache and female weakness to constipation and the constant use of violent cathartics overcome it. We believe women will be glad to fearn of a safe reliable bowel and stomach remedy that is pleasant to take and that the first few doses will certainly produce natural daily movements without pain or gripe and in a short time establish a permanent cure. It is so effective it has cured cases of 60 years' standing and yet so mild and safe thousands of mothgive it to their babies. Jennie Gresham, Nashville, Tenn., says: "I suffered almost death with torpid liver and indigestion and Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin gave me quick relief." Sister M. Berchmans, of Mt. St. Mary's Academy, Oklahoma City, says: "We have found Oklahoma City, says: "We have found Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin satisfactory as a gentle laxative and stomach tonic." Mrs. Myrtle Mather, Chicago, says: "My daughter was troubled since birth with constipation and sick headache. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin cured her." Mrs. W. M. Powers, New Philade phia, Ohio, says: "It is the best remedy for constipation and stomach trouble I have ever used." Mrs. R. H. Brown, Addington, Okla., says it gave her prompt relief from constipation and torpid liver. Mrs. Isabella Wheeler, Freetown, Ind., says: "Twenty-three years ago I was taken with stomach trouble. #### ASKS THE FARMERS TO COME TOGETHER.

DBAR SIR

President Roosevelt has suggested that the Commission on Country Life "ask the farmers to come together in the several school districts of the country so that they may meet and consider" the questions concerning which the Commission is seeking information. The President desires that these discussions be held not later than Saturday, Dec. 5th.

I am writing you to request that you suggest to the school officers, or other leading citizens, in the several school districts, to meet in their school houses. or other customary meeting places, and discuss the general economic, social, sanitary or educational conditional conditions of country life in their respective neighborhoods. The president suggests the following topics: The efficiency of the rural schools, farmers' organizations, the question of farm labor, the need of good roads, improved postal facilities, sanitary conditions of questions on which information is from the achuaintances formed durdesired. Copies of these questions ing the campaign of a year, remains (which are in the nature of suggestions) may be secured by addressing the Commission, at Washington.

The state of the s

as to whether the government can aid in improving any of the conditions of country life. The Commission desires that a brief statement of these discussions be sent the office in Washington.

This letter is sent to all county superintendents, or equivalent offiers, in the United States, in order that these subjects may be everywhere discussed practically simultaneously. The Commission asks your co-operation in securing these meetings, in the interest of the public good. The meetings should not be held not later than the first week in Hughes at the Presbyterian Church, the Commission depends on the attitude and co-operation of the farming people of the United States. The Commission represents them, and it heeds their suggestions.

> Yours very truly, J. G. CRABBE, Superintendent.

OLD SWEETHEARTS COILLDE IN STORM

Chicago, Nov. 27 .- Yesterday's wind and rain storm was hailed as an ante-Thanksgiving day blessing by one couple, John J. Foley and Miss Josephine Barker, of Ohio. Through a collission on the sidewalk while both were burrying along with beat heads each recognized in the other a childhood sweetheart, whose parents had prevented a marriage. Each had been looking for the other for four years without success.

Foley, who is employed in a printing plant of R. R. Donnelly, was walking hurriedly when he collided with and knocked down a young woman. He stooped to pick up the victim, and the eyes of both met.

"Why, Josephine," he exclaimed, 's that really you?"

The young woman stammered, "Yes John, at last we have met."

Foley accompanied Miss Barker to the residence of mutual friends. where the announcement was made that the long delayed wedding would be celebrated in a short time.

SALVATION

By REV. A. C. DIXON, D. D., stor of the Chicago Ave. (Moody's) Church, Chicago.

It is salvation from the greatest evils to the greatest good.

The greatest evils begin with the serpent letter Sin, Sick ness and Suffer Salvation from sin, the guilt of it and the defilement of it, the ower of it and and by the presence of it.

Salvation from vation. Prof. Freeman of Harvard university was tried for murder. He was convicted, and a few days before the execution he made complaint of the guards for mocking him. He said he heard all through the night some one uttering the name of the man for whose murder he was tried. Investigation was guards did not utter his name: it was the guilt of sin that spoke it. It was cients in their pictures of the furies, we realize how righteous God is and then realize that we have sinned against a holy God, the sense of guilt greatest day of my life was the day when I settled the sin question; the day when I got a vision of Jesus Christ as the Guilt-Bearer, and realized will have performed its work and the and only the gold will be seen. The diamond will be off the wheel and in the Master's crown. Salvation from sin, sickness and suffering is a great

It means salvation from sickness.

The Greatest Good. It is salvation to the greatest good. Holiness, health and happiness. Theybalance each other-sin, sickness and suffering over against holiness, health and happiness. "He was made sin for us who knew no sin that we might be made the righteousness of God in him." As righteous as God in him, and when you settle the sin question and the guilt of sin has passed from you to Christ you have settled the holiness question, too, for the holiness of Christ passes from him to you. We give up our sins to him and he gives his holiness unto us.

is God the healer. Call it scientific the verge of making a square meal psychology, allopathy, homeopathy or anything you please, but the Lord does the work, and he may use remedies, but he does the healing, and we praise God and not the remedy. Let us dispense with all fads and fancies and come down to simple faith in God as the healer of the sick.

Let me ask you a question which no being in this universe can answer. How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation?" Theologian, can you tell me? Philosopher, can you tell me? Holy Spirit, can you tell me? The Holy Spirit, who is the spirit of wisdom, has to reply for once, "I cannot tell you." Lord Jesus, can you tell me? He cannot. Lord God Almighty, and I speak it with reverence, can you tell me, with all your wisdom, how I can escape if I neglect so great a salvation? God himself for once is unable to answer. Not an angel in heaven, not God himself can answer that question. How can I escape if I neglect-not if I revile, not if I dispute, not if I fight against it, but if I neglect so great salvation? There is no escape for time or eternity. I beseech you, do not neglect it longer.

University Bars Liquor.

The trustees of the Leland Stanford university, California, have recently adopted the following resolution, affecting the use of liquor for beverage purposes within the university buildings . "The academic council is instructed to prohibit the use of liquor in fraternity chapter houses, student club houses and other student lodgings." The action taken by the trustees and the specific instructions given to the university authorities practically end the controversy, which has been taking place on the liquor question at Stanford. From now on, not only will liquor not se allowed in the buildings of the university, but any student who shall have or keep intoxicating liquors of any kind in his residential quarters in the building will be expelled and the leases of fraternity and club bouses will be subject to this rule.

O GREAT STRANDED CREW ESCAPE CANNIBALS

SHIPWRECKED SAILORS IMPRIS ONED THREE WEEKS IN VES-SEL OFF BORNEO COAST.

HCT TAR THEIR ONLY WEAPON

Find Themselves Face to Face with Horde of Savages When They Attempt to Land-Keep Guard on Craft Until Rescued.

Galveston, Tex.-Imprisoned for three weeks on a wrecked vessel, with hostile natives threatening their lives on land and the storm-swept sea preventing escape, the crew of the American steamer New Orleans took turns in standing guard, armed with buckets of hot tar, their only weapon, momentarily expecting an attack from the natives from shore.

This is the narrative told by John Cutbirth, a native of Fort Worth, Tex... who arrived on the El Norte on his way home after an absence of ten

The wreck occurred last May, shortly after the vessel set sail for New Zealand, laden with phosphorus, for Hamburg. While passing the Straits of Macassar, off the coast of Borneo, the vessel, during a flerce storm, was driven on a reef and there stuck fast.

Capt. Homby, realizing that the only course was to abandon the ship, ordered the boats lowered. In the boats was placed all portable property worth saving. There were no weapons on the ship, and when they approached the shores of Borneo they were defenseless. The landing was made at night, and the anxious crew waited

Capt. Homby did not demur, and in very short time the crew were hastiy pushing the lifeboats off and pulling out of reach of the natives' weapons. Then a conference was held. The only lternative to being eaten was to reurn to the wrecked vessel. The crew soon took to the ship, thanking their tars that they were not in more un comfortable quarters.

Considering that their danger was no means passed, the crew at once nace the ship as habitable as possible, t the same time that a system of deense was plan ed. ## THOUGHTS ON BUSINESS

WALDO PONDRAY WARREN

OTHERS HAVE DONE IT

HERE are many young men in business who, because of a lack of early training, either through limited opportunities or wasted opportunities, are struggling with a great handicap, which they hardly realize, in their limited knowledge of certain fundamentals of education. They resemble a man in a boat with only one oar, battling against the waves, without even knowing enough to wish for another oar, and without realizing that the reason others are making better headway is because they have two oars.

The fundamental branches of study-those which every schoolboy is supposed to learn in his early years, and which are often too meagerly understood by young men-are: How to spell, how to use correct grammar, good penmanship, arithmetic, geography, history and etymology.

Simple as these branches are, there are thousands who are deficient in them, and yet are blundering along through life, expecting to make a success in business, and yet not realizing how greatly they are handicapped by the lack of these things. Those who feel a lack in any of the simple fundamentals of education cannot afford to neglect any opportunity they can make to acquire some knowledge in those brances. Fifty years of hard work without them cannot hide the defect which may be overcome by a few years of night study.
